Charles de Gaulle Resigns

PARIS (AP) — Charles de Gaulle stepped out of the French presidency today and retired once more to his home in eastern France, ending more than 18 turbulent years of power that profoundly altered the nation's political outlook, economy and foreign policy.

De Gaulle's resignation became effective at noon. Senate President Alain Poper succeeded him as interim president, to serve until presidential elections are held. There was no ceremony of transfer, and De Gaulle was in seclusion at his home in Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

France's 78-year-old leader had turned a referendum Sunday on comparatively minor constitutional changes into a vote of confidence, gambling that his threat to resign would once more swing the electorate behind him. When the voters rejected his proposals, he announced his retirement in two brief sentences:

"I am ceasing the exercise of my functions as president of the republic. This decision takes effect at noon today."

Cabinet Meets
Premier Maurice Couve de Murville called his Cabinet into session this morning, but the ranks were thinning. Justice Minister Rene Capitant resigned, saying he could not collaborate with Poper because the latter had fought De Gaulle's referendum proposals. Culture Minister Andre Malraux, one of those closest to De Gaulle, said he would also resign. Poper must organize a presidential election within 20 to 35 days. He has been mentioned as a candidate, but former Premier George Pompidou is considered the favorite. Nothing forced De Gaulle to quit the job he had held since Jan. 1, 1959, except one of the general's famous ultimatums. Although his term of office did not expire until 1972, he had said he would resign immediately if the French voters did not approve his government reform plan for administrative decentralization and removal of the Senate's few remaining powers.

No Surprise
The results of Sunday's referendum were 11,966,550 votes or 52.87 per cent opposed, 10,669,550 or 47.13 per cent in favor. The outcome was no great surprise. Several public opinion polls published last week showed the trend running against the general.

De Gaulle's last television speech Friday night failed to turn the tide.

Premier Maurice Couve de Murville was the first to concede defeat. He declared: "Beginning tomorrow, a new page in our history will be turned." He warned of "a difficult period, perhaps a period of trouble."

Shortly after he spoke, anti-Gaullist demonstrators turned out in the streets of Paris, marching through the Latin Quarter and chanting, "Adieu, De Gaulle."

France's Peril
Police reinforcements were hustled to the area and in several short, sharp clashes, five policemen were hurt and 50 demonstrators were injured. About 70 persons were picked up by police for identity checks.

The uncertainty of what might happen next is certain to put new pressure on the already wobbly franc. France has never recovered from the economic blow of the six-week industrial shutdown last May and June and the 13 per cent wage hikes granted to get the workers back on the job.

De Gaulle defiantly refused to devalue the franc during a crisis last November. If labor unions call off their truce enforced during the referendum campaign and start agitating for new wage increases, the next president may be forced to reassess the franc's value.

While the financial community buzzed with speculation about the franc, the political reaction in Washington and London was officially noncommittal. But there was a general feeling that without De Gaulle, France will slowly improve relations with the United States and Britain.

NATO Cooperation
Diplomatic observers in Brussels also forecast more French cooperation with the other members of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and enhanced chances of Britain gaining entry into the European Economic Community.

De Gaulle is the last of the great leaders of World War II to step out. A World War I veteran, he was a colonel when the second war broke out and rose to general before the German occupation of France. He refused to recognize the collaborationist Vichy regime, fled to London, and from there rallied the Free French Forces. His wartime battles with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill were legendary, but he kept his vanquished country one of the major allies.

De Gaulle headed the provisional government in liberated France from 1944 to 1946, then quit for the first time and dropped out for 12 years. He re-emerged as premier, called back in 1958 by an uprising of the military and right-wing settlers in Algeria.

Restored Economy
De Gaulle survived two assassination attempts by right-wing terrorists. He pushed through a new constitution setting up the Fifth Republic with a strong president and downgrading the National Assembly that held authority in the Fourth Republic.

He restored France's economy, building up reserves of more than $6 billion in gold and foreign currencies. But almost half this hoard has disappeared since the upheavals of 1968.

De Gaulle conducted a 10-year campaign to eliminate U.S. domination of Europe. He attacked the special privileges of the dollar and the British pound as international reserve currencies, and carried on extensive purchases of U.S. gold which weakened the dollar.

In 1967, he ordered allied troops out of France to mark his nation's withdrawal from the military organization of NATO. He consistently vetoed Britain's entry into the Common Market, contending the British government was an American Trojan horse, and forced the market to retain its veto for individual nations.

NMU's Job Corps Wins Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The closing date of the Women's Job Corps center on the Northern Michigan University campus has been postponed until June 30, Secretary of Labor George Schultz said Saturday.

The announcement coincided with the arrival in Washington of about 50 NMU students who planned to picket the White House in protest of the action by the Nixon administration. The group made the long trip from the campus at Marquette in the Upper Peninsula by bus.

Some were expected to testify early this week before the House Education and Labor Committee to explain their opposition to the economy move.

Michigan's Timing Is Off

By The Associated Press
A motorist leaves his Detroit home at 6 p. m., on the one-hour drive to Toledo and arrives in the Ohio city at 8 p. m.

A businessman hops a plane to New York from Detroit's Metropolitan Airport, leaving at 8 a. m. and arriving at 10:25 a. m.—instead of the customary 9:25 a. m. arrival.

All this is happening because Michigan fell out of step with almost every other state in the nation in its timekeeping, as of the first minute of the day Sunday.

All states except Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii shifted to DST, moving their clocks ahead by one hour Sunday.

And the confusion has already made itself known, although apparently not in any alarming proportions.

Clerks at United Air Lines reported "quite a few calls" from persons trying to set the time differences clearly in mind before traveling.

Meanwhile, some institutions and governmental bodies are taking independent stands of various kinds to cope with the time differences.

Luna Pier, a community of 1,344 in Monroe County near Lake Erie, announced earlier that it would disregard federal regulations and move its clocks ahead an hour with neighboring Ohio and other states.

Michigan is remaining on Eastern Standard Time because voters decreed by a thin margin in a referendum last November to exempt the state from U.S. Department of Transportation orders to advance clocks.

The Department of Transportation order for adoption of DST took effect in all states except those voters specifically exempted them from fast time.

In the three easternmost counties of the Upper Peninsula, Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac, there was no clock changing, but for a different reason. The three counties previously disregarded a Transportation Department order setting Central Standard Time as official for the 15 counties of the U.P. The remaining 12 U.P. counties are moving their clocks ahead by an hour, changing from Central Standard to Eastern Standard.

The Detroit Tigers will start their Saturday baseball games 1:15 p. m. instead of 2:15 to meet the needs of New York-based television networks.

Some Michigan TV stations report they are busting to continue showing network broadcasts at their usual times. They are taping the shows, playing them an hour later.

Bleached Kraft Unit To Produce 600 Tons Daily

Mead Corp. today announced approval by its board of directors of the second construction phase of its Escanaba Paper Co. publishing papers center here to create a bleached kraft pulpmill.

The mill will have capacity for production of 600 tons of pulp a day to serve the pulp needs of the publishing papers center now under development here.

Equipment for the new pulpmill has been ordered, said President James M. McSwiney of Mead in announcing the go-ahead signal on the second phase of the plant development project — "the largest single capital expenditure ever made within the corporation" — with construction expected to begin late this summer.

The new pulpmill is planned for operation in the second half of 1971.

Over $100 Million
The cost of the new pulpmill was not announced by Mead, but it indicated that some $5 million would be used for air and stream pollution control equipment in the new publishing papers center.

The cost of the first phase of the three phase plant expansion project which is now well along in construction, was $56.6 million and the total project cost was indicated at more than $100 million.

The first phase is providing a third paper machine for the mill and an enlargement of the power plant.

The second phase announced today will provide the pulpmill.

The third phase, still to be announced, would provide a fourth paper machine.

Start-Up This Year
Start-up of the No. 3 paper machine now being constructed at the Groos mill is scheduled late this year.

The mill at present is supplied with groundwood pulp manufactured at the Groos mill in a plant with a capacity of 106 tons a day and with chemical pulp purchased from other mills. The new pulpmill will have equipment for the production of 150 tons of groundwood pulp a day in addition to the 600 tons a day of bleached kraft pulp.

Both chemical and groundwood pulps are used in the production of the lightweight coated papers to be produced at Escanaba for use in magazines and other printed pieces.

Doubling Capacity
The new (No. 3) 300 inch wide paper machine which Mead is building here is designed for computer process control of critical factors. It is expected to produce more than 120,000 tons of paper annually.

The mill's two older paper machines produce a total of 85,000 tons of paper annually.

Addition of the new pulping facilities is planned to provide the cost advantages of an integrated pulp and paper-making complex, McSwiney said in the announcement.

Plan Odor Control
Oliver C. Christiansen, mill manager at Escanaba Paper Co., said plans for construction of the new bleached kraft pulpmill were not finalized "until Mead management was satisfied it could obtain the most advanced equipment for preventing air pollution."

"We expect to go substantially further than just meeting stringent state and federal standards. We are determined to install whatever type of chemical recovery system has been determined to be most effective in limiting fallout and odor," Christiansen said.

Reports of planning for a kraft pulpmill had caused some citizen inquiry and protest on nuisance odors from such an operation.

Man Killed; Car Rams His House

By The Associated Press

A runaway car smashed through a home in Waterford Township Sunday night and fatally injured a Pontiac man, who was sitting at a dining table at the time. The death brought to 13 the number of persons killed in weekend traffic accidents in Michigan.

Waterford Township police said Sam Healand, 58, was fatally injured when a car driven by Movita Saly, 30, of Pontiac plunged off M 59, when down an embankment, onto another street and then into the William Barrow home.

Three other persons were at table as the car burst through the kitchen, dining room, hallway and out onto the yard. Mrs. Barrow was injured seriously. Also injured were the car's driver and the victim's wife.

The Healanders had been visiting at the Barrow home.

The other 12 persons who died were involved in separate accidents, including eight persons who were killed when their cars struck stationary objects ranging from fences to trees.

The Associated Press weekend traffic fatality count began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Some of the victims:

Dolth Jordan, 60, Detroit, in a two-car crash Saturday in Detroit.

John Grosskopf, 39, Imlay City, when his car struck a house Saturday night in Dryden Township, Lapeer County.

Jerol Lauria, 17, West Branch, when a car in which he was riding struck a tree in Ogemaw County Friday night.

Thomas Van Dervele, 15, Muskegon, when his motorcycle left a road near Muskegon Saturday night and struck a fence.

Stanley Council, 7, Gladwin, when he rode his bicycle into the path of an auto Saturday in Gladwin.

Allen Smoll, 17, Sturgis, when his car hit an embankment in St. Joseph County Saturday.

After military leaders gave him the backing of the Bolivian armed forces.

However, the man with whom Barrientos shared the reins of government for a time after the military coup in 1964, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, was not consulted. Ovando, the chief of staff, was in Washington on a visit. What effect his return will have on Siles-Salinas' tenure was not certain.

Ovando is the only announced candidate so far for president in the 1970 elections. The constitution barred Barrientos from another term.

Tangled In Wires

The 49-year-old president was visiting farming communities in this land-locked South American country when his helicopter got tangled in high tension wires and crashed Sunday. An aide and the helicopter pilot also were killed.

Barrientos felt he had a special rapport with the peasants. Before he left on his tour, he told associates his political strength was in the hills, not in the cities. The rural population provided strong support when he won 62 per cent of the vote and was elected president in 1966.

A measure of that support was evident in 1967 when Ernesto 'Che' Guevara came to Bolivia and tried to get support in the countryside for a Bolivian guerrilla movement. The peasants did not respond, and Guevara was trapped and killed.

Barrientos, who was chief of the air force until the 1964 coup, had survived several assassination attempts during his political career, including a bomb that went off under his bed when he was not home.

At Odds

As his running mate in the 1966 elections, Barrientos chose Siles-Salinas, 45, one of the founders of the Social Democratic party but more of a university professor than a politician.

In recent months the two had been at odds over whether Congress should be called for another session. When Barrientos decided against it, Siles-Salinas denounced him.

Barrientos is survived by his widow and seven children.

Consistory OKs 33 Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI created 33 new cardinals today, giving younger men and seven more nations a place in the highest council of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Pope had named the 33 prelates on March 28. Today, 53 members of the Sacred College of Cardinals met in secret consistory with the Pope and gave their approval to his choices.

The meeting in the consistorial hall of the Apostolic Palace, first of three consistories this week, lasted only 15 minutes. It expanded the Sacred College to 134 members, the largest number in history, and increased the number of nations represented from 39 to 46.

Immediately after Pope Paul announced the 33 names and received the vote of approval, three cardinals set out as papal messengers to notify the new cardinals waiting in three buildings near the Vatican.

The new cardinals included four Americans, giving the United States 10 members of the Sacred College for the first time. The new American cardinals are Archbishop Terence J.

Cooke of New York, John J. Carberry of St. Louis, John F. Dearden of Detroit and Bishop John J. Wright of Pittsburgh.

Among the others are eight Italians, three Frenchmen, two Spaniards, two Brazilians, a Canadian, a Mexican and the first cardinal to be named from Korea, Guatemala, Madagascar and New Zealand.

The Pope's choices also continued the internationalization of the Church's top rank by reducing the Italian proportion of cardinals from 32.6 per cent to 30.5 per cent. The new men also bring the average age of the cardinals down from 71 to 68 years.

The new selections also increase the power and prestige of diocesan bishops around the world and give developing nations a greater place in the highest council of Roman Catholicism. Only four of the new cardinals are members of the Vatican Curia, the central government of the Church. Four have been nuncios, the Vatican's ambassadors abroad, 24 are archbishops or bishops and one is a Jesuit theologian.

OK Arrest Power For Guards

Rep. Hellman Rejects Asian Investment Plan

LANSING (AP)—Bills widening the powers of private security guards and allowing insurance companies to add service charges to interest on loans have been passed by the House.

The lower chamber, however, refused Friday to adopt a measure that would allow investment by the State Public Employees Retirement Fund in bonds from the Asian Development Bank.

One Upper Peninsula Democrat, Russell Hellman, said, "If we pass that bill we're paving the road to hell."

The bill extending both the required qualifications and the powers of private security guards passed despite objections from several Detroit-area representatives.

Arrest Power

Introduced by Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate, the bill gives the power of arrest without warrant to private guards who are wearing their full uniforms, acting only on their employer's property and during authorized working hours.

Hoffman said State Police helped draft the bill after the J. L. Hudson Co. complained its guards were unable to handle disorderly persons at the department chain's suburban stores.

Blacks Against

Private guards now have only so-called citizen's arrest powers. In effect they can detain people until police are summoned, but lack legal authority to do more than guard property. Some county sheriffs deputize private guards, Hoffman said, but Wayne and Oakland County sheriffs disapprove of that practice because the guards often aren't residents where they work.

Under the proposal, a private security firm could apply for a State Police license authorizing the arrest power. Applicants would be required to complete department training requirements.

Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit, a Negro, objected to what he said were implications in the bill allowing guards to shoot or detain teen-aged prisoners for an unspecified time.

None of the 11-member black caucus from Detroit voted for the bill nor did most of Detroit's other 15 representatives, including the lone Republican, Weldon Yeager.

The House also voted to include insurance companies with state and national banks now allowed to add service charges to interest on loans.

The bill, introduced by Rep.

Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, specifies a borrower could be charged only once, either by a mortgage seller or by a lender.

Rejection of the bill to allow investment in the Asian Development Bank came despite insistence by James Heinze, R-Battle Creek, that the state retirement fund would have an "absolute guarantee."

Asian Bonds

He said David Kennedy, U.S. Treasury secretary had urged all state pension committees to consider buying bonds in the Asian bank. The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and the Interamerican Development Bank now are acceptable for investment under Michigan law.

But Detroit Democrats Joyce Hunsinger and E. D. O'Brien, together with Hellman, apparently spoke for the majority. "We'd be putting our money in jeopardy by sending it over to Asia," O'Brien said.

In other action Friday the House:

—Adopted revised pharmacy regulations to allow a pharmacist with a "preceptor" certificate to train on-the-job interns.

Prescription orders would be closed records, not open to public inspection except by individual patients, physicians or authorized state or federal investigators.

—Voted to require school bus drivers to pass driver safety courses every year.

—Adopted a bill allowing the State Treasury Department to withhold 2 per cent of income taxes collected for cities.

—Approved continued state aid to the Wayne County Child Development Center.

Hat Check Girl Given Free Trip

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. June Lamb, who has been a hatcheck girl at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel for 43 of her 62 years, is preparing to enjoy her most memorable trip.

It's a round-trip ticket to Los Angeles "to visit my youngest son, Robert."

And she says it came from one of two young men "who come in here regularly, call me 'mother' and always stop to talk before going in to dinner."

"I don't think they'd want me to tell their names," she said, adding that "in fact I didn't know their last names myself until last Saturday. The gentleman who gave me the ticket said he thought of me as a mother."

DETROIT (AP) — The public is being given its first chance today to tell legislators how it thinks Michigan's $100 million recreation bond issue should be divided.

Conservation committees of the House and Senate conducted hearings in the Supervisor's Auditorium of Detroit's City-County Building.

Hearings are planned later at Traverse City, Escanaba and Grand Rapids.

tors when he proposed that $30 go to counties on a population basis, another $30 million to counties with populations of more than 100,000 and $40 million to the State Department of Natural Resources.

Among those taking issue with Milliken was Rep. Thomas J. Anderson, D - Southgate, House Conservation Committee chairman.

Anderson insists the bond issue was approved in statewide referendum with the understanding 70 per cent would go to the Natural Resources Department and 30 per cent to local communities.

Senate Conservation Chairman Gordon Rockwell, R - Mount Morris, introduced a bill setting up a 70-30 formula, but insists he still is uncommitted and feels legislators should take a look at all proposals before acting.

Another pending bill would give local communities $80 million and the state department $20 million.

In outlining his 30-30-70 proposal in a special message, Milliken told the Legislature the November ballot on the bond issue "did not specify how the money would be allocated" and that "the entire State of Michigan has a stake in our urban areas."

Critics also point out that Detroit voters turned down the issue, while outstate areas favored it. The latter, they insist, acted under the impression a major portion of the funds would go to the Department of Natural Resources for use outstate.

Wernham Gets Regional Office In Forest Service

Superior National Forest Supervisor John O. Wernham has been named assistant regional forester in the Eastern Region's Division of Recreation, Range and Wildlife Management, Regional Forester George S. James announces at Milwaukee. Wernham was named to succeed Harold A. Svensen who retired.

James said Wernham was "an excellent choice for this position, considering his long experience with the Forest Service and outstanding management of a forest so thoroughly involved with recreation as the Superior."

Wernham joined the Forest Service in 1930, completing his undergraduate study at the University of Illinois and gaining his masters degree in forestry the next year at the University of Michigan. In 1942 he transferred to the Ottawa National Forest in Michigan, joining the timber management staff; and in 1951 he succeeded to the position of deputy forest supervisor on the Huron-Manistee National Forest in Michigan. In 1966, he took over the Superior National Forest, where he now serves.

During his tenure on the Ottawa National Forest, Wernham was instrumental in formulating plans for acquisition of the primitive Sylvania Tract and was a major force in gaining Forest Service ownership of that unique area.

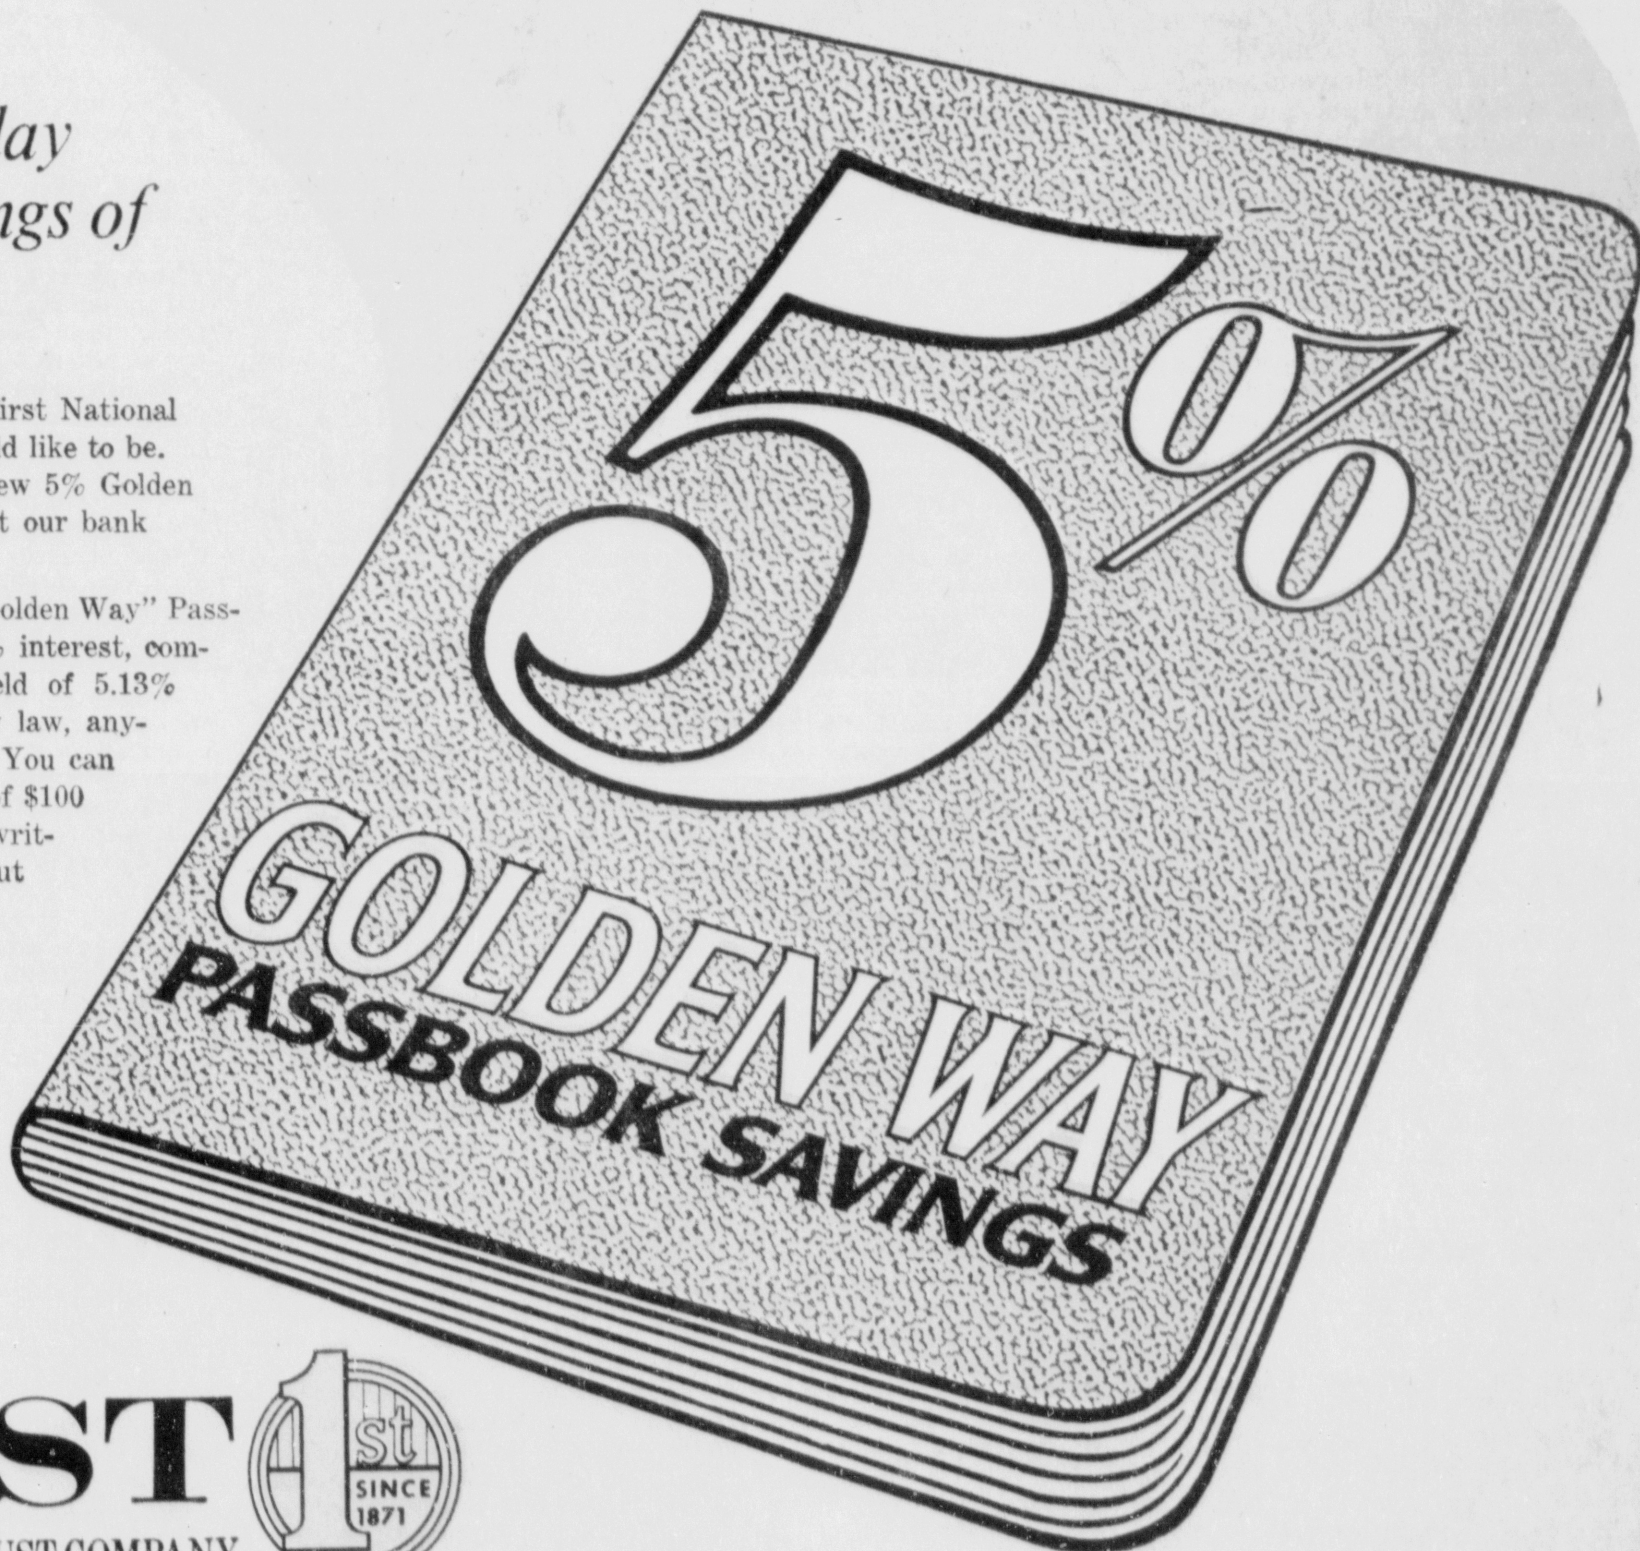

Wernham and his wife Betty will be moving to Milwaukee in early June. They have two married daughters.

Mack's Statement

Iron Mountain News
Senator Joseph Mack's statement, published in Friday's News, falls far short of its intended purpose.
The Ironwood Democratic senator issued the statement in reply to an article written by William Kulsea of the Booth Newspapers in which Senator Mack was accused of bringing pressure through Upper Peninsula copper mine officials that resulted in the resignation of Ralph Huhtala, Kingsford, as chairman of the Republican Party of the 11th District.
Senator Mack has taken the opportunity to defend himself at great length, but he misses the mark in all the key elements of the whole distasteful situation.

This newspaper verified the facts of Huhtala's resignation as 11th District Republican chairman before printing the Kulsea article.
"The dissatisfaction expressed by certain Democratic legislators over the determination of the seven-member State Officers Compensation Commission, of which I am a member, prompted me to make this decision (resignation as Republican chairman) sooner than might otherwise have been the case," Huhtala stated. He did not say that the charges made by Kulsea were untrue, as Senator Mack stated in his reply.
Huhtala said it was his personal decision to withdraw his candidacy for the 11th District Republican chairmanship.
"I decided that my own interests, along with those of my employer, the employees and shareholders of Lake Shore, Inc., and the communities in which Lake Shore operates, would best be served by my withdrawal," the Kingsford resident said.

Senator Mack explains the circumstances related to an inspection tour of coho fishing off Manistee, Kulsea wrote that he left in his wake "a series of unpaid motel bills, which since have been honored. But only after public exposure."
Senator Mack says the issue involved was the question of "which department of the state would be charged for the room rental — the Senate or the Conservation Department?"
We'll take his word for it, but we must hasten to remind our readers that the Manistee coho fishing incident was not the issue being examined in the Iron Mountain News.

In his statement in Friday's News (published in the Escanaba Daily Press on Saturday) Senator Mack outlined his role in legislative affairs regarding the Municipal Bond Act, Sturgeon River Watershed program, building programs at Michigan Technological University, Northern Michigan University, Gogebic Community College and other legislation which has benefited the Upper Peninsula.

This newspaper has not taken a position on the quality of service Senator Mack provides his constituents in the 38th District.
But when Senator Mack's part in the resignation of a political party district chairman became public knowledge, we commented editorially:

"The implications are enormous and should concern every voter. Our legislators are elected to represent the interests of their districts in government, not their own interests. In this case we see a perverse switch of function and instead of the legislator having to satisfy his district, the district must satisfy him."
We still see it that way.

Law And Order

Our university presidents have been telling us, since the rash of disorders on campuses, that universities are uniquely vulnerable to attack and disruption; that they have a long tradition of tolerating protest and they are reluctant to use force to suppress militants who seize their buildings.

The impression grows that the universities can distinguish between right and wrong as a study, but that when confronted with actual problems some of them wilt. Student rebels armed with guns with real bullets seized a building at Cornell University and the vice president signed an amnesty agreement with the armed students. Rather than call in the police, the university surrendered to the rebels.

There were pious words about "This cannot be repeated," after the incident, but the militants had proved that intimidation works.
At the high level of leadership represented by one of our leading universities we have another example of the success of thuggery. If you're tough enough, you can break the law.

Bloodshed was avoided, of course, but let us take no pride in it; the tradition of respect for law on which this country grew great was bloodied up badly.

Nixon Impresses

The Nixon administration may be faulted for shortcomings before its term is over, but one thing it cannot be charged with so far is going off half-cocked.

The president's temperate, practical response to the shooting down of an American spy-plane by North Korea is the latest example of his unflappability under provocation and, one can assume, under great pressure from various quarters to do something dramatic to avenge the United States and teach the North Koreans a lesson.

Previous to that was his wise decision to let the colleges and universities deal with student demonstrators. An announcement that the government was clamping down on the rowdy radicals, possibly by cutting off federal scholarship aid, would have done little to ease the situation and might well have enlarged it, but it would undoubtedly have been a crowd-pleaser.

The president's deliberateness in attacking the nation's domestic problems has already alienated those who really did not expect much from him, but in the field of foreign affairs only the most rabid Nixon foe would deny him credit for statesmanship of a high order.

Queen Of Strippers Raps Stage Nudity

By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Every night in a Broadway theater on 47th Street, a dozen or so young men and women lie on the stage and undress beneath what appears to be a long muslin tablecloth. Then, as the orchestra plays something appropriate for slipping out of tablecloths, the cast of "Hair" rises and stands—jaybird naked—before its audience.

The patrons stiffen momentarily, blink and then nod absently to show their sophisticated upbringing. "That's what I call tasteful nudity," gulps a man in a tuxedo.

People never gulped like that when Gypsy Rose Lee walked offstage back in the 1930s and '40s. No sir. People whistled. In class burlesque houses like the Republic, the Irving Place and the 42nd Street Apollo, men in tuxedos stood and applauded as though they had just heard Caruso sing in "Rigoletto."

As perhaps the most famous strip-teaser produced by burlesque, Miss Lee was more tease than strip. She winked, she sang scurrilous ditties and she looked absolutely scrumptious, but all her audience ever saw was a flash of flesh as she sidled off to the wings.

There were more basic, less scrupulous characters in burlesque in those days, to be sure, but none remotely challenged the attention on-stage nudity gets today. The human body has not been so discussed since the invention of the bustle.

Now 54, Gypsy Rose Lee is amused at the uproar, sort of. "I don't think people are seeing anything the world didn't know about," she says, smiling. "It's just that now, suddenly, people are talking about it."

As a stripper, Miss Lee—Louise Hovick to her mother—absorbed much of the lusty atmosphere that went with the business. Her conversation is laced with exclamatory "What the hell!" and other sundry oaths. She is not shy and, certainly, she is not dumb.

Indeed, if Gypsy was not the greatest stripper ever, she has to be the most intelligent. While girls like energetic Georgia Sothern, the tassel girls, Rose La Rose and Miss ("I'm more scarlett than Scarlett O'Hara") Lynne faded into the sunset, Gypsy Rose Lee stuck around, wrote a best-seller, "The G-String Murders," and then scored with her autobiography, "Gypsy," which became a Broadway hit and movie.

Today she is a respected member of the Hollywood community in Beverly Hills where she lives with two peacocks, 11 Chinese hairless dogs, numerous goldfish and several lizards.

These days, she endorses things like the National Water Institute's clean waters contest. "All those poor baby seals being killed by the oil slicks and being washed up on Monterey Beach," she fumes. "Now what the hell good can there be in that?"

Animals, obviously, are important to Gypsy. Now her pet projects include a trip to England with her Chinese hairless this year to win dog shows and get the American Kennel Club to recognize the breed.

"They're recognized in England," she says. "I was up all night last night with one which was having puppies. All dogs have pups at night, you know. Boy, my eyes feel like they're out on sticks."

Other waking moments are spent in more profitable activities.

Gypsy has, for instance, just completed filming a comic western with Walter Brennan, Edward Buchanan and Pat O'Brien called, not altogether accurately, "The Over-The-Hill Gang."

"It's got all the clichés that ever went into a western," she explained. "It's so dear and so funny. I play a woman with a heart of gold who runs the local saloon, of course, and, no, I don't remove my clothes."

As one might suspect, Gypsy Rose Lee is fairly broadminded on the subject of undress. "I saw 'Hair' in California and liked it," she said. "I was hardly aware of the nudity. It seemed like natural development in the play."

Recently, however, Miss Lee has observed nudity not so natural.

"Topless waitresses bother me," she admits. "For myself, I'd much rather see bare bosoms on the stage than at the dinner table. For one thing, it makes it difficult to order sometimes, you know... 'Do you have any roast breast—I mean, duck?' or maybe you find yourself discussing 'the lovely cantaloupes on the menu' or something."

"One place here even has topless billiards... now, if that isn't hazardous, I don't know what is."

A now-squelched off-Broadway play gained considerable notoriety recently by displaying two actors in a rather advanced state of affection. Gypsy Rose Lee laughed at the prospect.

"All of this is just a fad," she said, "and fads aren't going to take the place of good theater. I think I'd rather watch my birds than that, anyway."

Viet Countryside Tilts To Our Side

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Hidden by Ho Chi Minh's winter-spring offensive the snail-paced Paris talks and the credibility gap, a fragile breakthrough of quite tremendous significance seems to be taking place in South Vietnam.

The changes that make up this breakthrough are scattered and mixed with many failures. The improvements move ahead by fits and starts. They're touch-and-go in many cases and could disappear into dust. But the balance of power in the countryside is beginning to tilt slightly in our favor.

The changes don't yet add up to a counterrevolution against the Viet Cong. But guerrilla warfare depends on momentum. And these trends might just be enough to halt Hanoi's momentum and break the back of Ho's war.

The Buddhists, Catholics, Cao Dai and Hoa Hao have intensified fighting magnificently their recruiting and organizing over considerable areas in the countryside. While these efforts are mostly aimed at gaining religious and/or political strength for themselves (rather than at strengthening the government or winning the war), these evangelist groups compete strongly with Communist organizers.

Non-Communist student groups from Saigon and other major cities now push out into Viet Cong-held and contested areas on weekends for swinging discussion groups or talks. Students are excited by the adventure, pleased with the results. They do it on their own. Their parents sometimes are shocked, first, by their disappearance and, afterward, learning where their sons and daughters have been.

In some districts and provinces, Saigon has succeeded in separating military and civilian government. For years, the local army field commander was in fact the local "war lord." Civilian officials obeyed him on political and economic matters.

North Vietnamese have been replaced by South Vietnamese in several score key positions in the central government. Several dozens of high-ranking officials have been removed for arrogant corruption. Though many of the replacements have also been corrupt (because of a shortage of qualified officials), the removals have set a warning. That is, corruption has been reduced—somewhat.

Over-all, a number of extremely incompetent army officers, province chiefs and officials, and Saigon aides have been replaced by men a notch or two better.

Rural hamlet and village officials elected in the past two years are proving to be an improvement over their predecessors, most of whom had been appointed. Officials are finding that, with a little training, some of these men are turning out extremely well. Some, of course, are incompetent, regardless of training.

Gradually, more power is being taken from the central government, placed in the village councils, giving rural people a greater stake.

More farmers and townspeople are informing on Viet Cong arms, food and equipment caches. Psychological warfare specialists measure success in guerrilla war by the willingness or unwillingness of local citizens to inform on the enemy.

South Vietnamese regional militia or national guard-type forces are depended on to protect hamlets from small-scale VC attacks and from larger attacks until help arrives.

In years past, regular officers who fouled up were assigned to command these units. Report after report told of militia which patrolled in daytime, withdrew at night. In fire fights, some hid, others quickly retreated.

Today, there are increasing numbers of regional militia which repulse attacks by equal or larger VC units. These aren't the "victories" one normally writes of in war. But they're the stuff and substance of victory in guerrilla insurgencies.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

This deal occurred in the match between Venezuela and North America in the 1967 world championship.

At the first table, David Beah, of Venezuela, a strong advocate of the weak opening bid, commenced hostilities with one spade. Kehela doubled, and after Rosignol had passed, Murray responded two notrump. Kehela raised to three and Beah led a spade.

Since both minor suits were divided favorably, Murray had no trouble producing nine tricks for what appeared to be a normal result.

However, at the second table, the play took a spectacular turn and the American East-West pair, Roth and Root, defeated three notrump. The bidding went:

Here North became declarer and East (Roth) was on lead. Spurning the more normal heart lead, Roth decided to attack spades, where he thought declarer would be weak. Not only that, but Roth made the highly unorthodox lead of the queen instead of the deuce.

No truer arrow was ever shot. Declarer didn't know it, but his cause was irretrievably lost. He thought Roth had the jack to back up the queen, and he therefore ducked in dummy.

Roth continued with the seven, the ten losing surprisingly (from Roth's viewpoint) to the jack. When Roth shifted to a low heart, declarer confidently followed low, quite naturally assuming that East would not have another spade to lead.

But Roth won the heart with the ten and produced yet another spade — the deuce — which he theoretically couldn't have. So Roth was able to cash three more spade tricks and the unfortunate Venezuelan declarer finished down three for minus 300. The North American team thus gained 900 points on the deal.

Ann Landers

Parents Against His Watching Embalming

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 13, get A's and B's on my report card and have never caused anybody any trouble. My problem is my parents.

For the school science fair, I am doing a project on embalming. I've gone to the local funeral home to get books and information on the subject. The apprentice embalmer is a young fellow who explains many things. He has offered to take me to embalming school to meet his instructors and watch an embalming.

My parents say they don't want me to go there. I say it would help me in my project. I already know so much about embalming I could probably do a job myself. But unless I actually see one, my science fair project will not be authentic. Please help me. — J. R.

Dear J. R.: If your parents say no, respect their wishes. Wait until you are 16 and then, if you still are interested write again and I'll intervene in your behalf.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 15-year-old washout (female). People pretend to like me but I don't have any real friends. I was elected to a student government office in February because I had just broken my leg and everyone felt sorry for me. I am a clumsy ox and can't do anything gracefully. I'm a lousy tennis player, fell off a bicycle when I had the greatest bike date of all time, and I'm a rotten skier. (That's how I broke my leg.)

I say dumb things because silence embarrasses me. I always laugh at the wrong time. This is a very honest description of myself, Ann. Can you help me? — Miss Undesirable of 1969.

Dear Miss: "Inadequacies" of which you seem painfully aware are, I'm sure, magnified in your mind's eye. Nobody pays that much attention to what you say and do.

People who think too well of themselves are a bore. Your problem is the reverse, and equally unattractive. It's a drag to hear a person run himself in to the ground constantly. Knock it off.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not even married and already I have mother-in-law problems. My fiancé is the apple of his mother's eye. No girl would have been good enough. But Brad's mother has let the whole world know she's very disappointed in her son's choice. I'm the wrong religion. I'm not pretty enough. I don't qualify intellectually, socially or financially. She has even said these things to my face, always being careful to add, "Nobody's perfect."

I dread having dinner at Brad's house. His mother has yet to call me by name. The atmosphere is so heavy you could cut it with a knife. Brad knows all this and says he's sorry.

I've done everything under the sun to win her favor and

I've failed. What should I do? — Uplight

Dear Up: Stop trying to butter up the old battleax. Don't strain to be friendly. Behave in a natural manner and you'll feel less like a hypocrite.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces it is love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Copyright 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Police Skin Divers Search For Gun

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Acting on an anonymous tip, State Police skin divers combed the bottom of the muddy Huron River this weekend searching for a gun which may have been used to kill a recent murder victim in the Ann Arbor area.

The caller told police the gun had been tossed into the river from the U.S. 23 bridge. But the unsuccessful search was hampered by poor visibility caused by recent rains. The divers were forced to feel their way along the bottom.

The gun was said to have been used to kill University of Michigan coed Jane Mixer, third victim in five brutal killings dating back to 1967.

Engineer Killed In Train Crash

KAWKAWLIN (AP) — A Penn Central freight train swung around a blind curve in Kawkawlin at an estimated 35 miles an hour Saturday and crashed into a line of 97 empty freight cars, causing an engineer's death and injuring four persons.

Dead is Ray A. Beson, 56, Bay City, the engineer on train number 210 which was going south to nearby Bay City from Grayling.

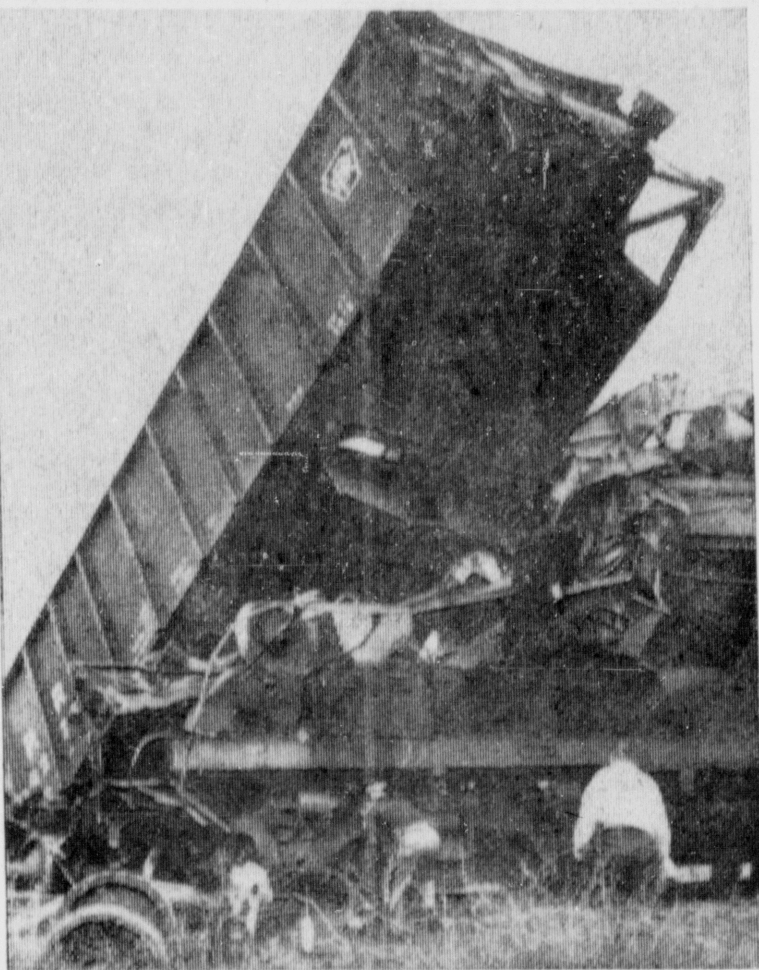

The first freight train reportedly had been stalled on the line for about five hours, but Penn Central officials said the second train was not advised.

Admitted to a Bay City hospital and held for observation was brakeman Emerson Kimbrue Sr., 55, Bay City, and his 14-year-old son Mitchell, who was riding with him. Treated for minor injuries and released were a brakeman and the train conductor.

The five persons reportedly jumped clear of the train before it crashed into a caboose and three gondolas of the stalled train.

Engineer Beson reportedly was pinned inside a badly damaged engine unit before being taken to a hospital, where he was dead on arrival.

Workmen worked through Sunday attempting to clear the mangled wreckage.

BAY CITY TRAIN engineer Ray A. Beson, 56, was killed and four others injured Saturday afternoon when this south-bound Penn Central diesel freight engine from Grayling plowed into the rear of an empty 97-car unit coal train waiting to proceed south itself near a curving section of single track near Kawkawlin, 4 miles north of Bay City. ## Weather Hurts Trout Opener

Cold weather and rain cut into fishing activity on the opening weekend of Michigan's regular trout fishing season Saturday and Sunday, but good success was reported from some inland lakes.

With temperatures in the mid-40s and water levels high, success was limited in most streams, although several good catches of brook trout were reported from the Escanaba River.

Good catches of trout also were reported from Moccasin and Johnson Lakes in the Gwinn area and from Ackerman and Mirror Lakes in Alger County.

Fishing pressure was heavy at Camp 7 in northeastern Delta County, but few fish were taken.

Best success for steelhead was reported at the Little Garlic River between Marquette and Big Bay.

Mississippi Folks Breathe Easier

By The Associated Press
People who live along the Mississippi River in Illinois and Iowa breathed a sigh of relief when predicted heavy rains and high winds passed the area.

The light rain that fell on a number of flood stricken communities Sunday produced little rise in the swollen Mississippi, but heavy down pours elsewhere did cause a sharp upward climb in the Missouri River.

The Missouri is expected to go above flood stage later this week.

Gov. Rhodes Denies Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio denies charges by Life magazine that he "has been dipping into slush funds for years" to cover personal expenses with campaign contributions.

Life said Sunday it studied Rhodes' finances while investigating his recent decision to commute the life sentence of Thomas Licavoli, convicted of murder in 1934.

Rhodes made Licavoli eligible for parole, which has not been granted by the parole board.

Life's article by Denny Walsh said, "The fact that Rhodes has been dipping into slush funds for years without getting caught, suggests that he thought he could get away just as easily with granting clemency to Licavoli."

The Republican governor, in a statement Sunday night, said the article was "ridiculous in its insinuations and irresponsible innuendoes and contains information which the author falsely represents as fact."

"I deny categorically," Rhodes said, "that I have, as governor of Ohio, received any money illegally or immorally, nor have I as a public official in Ohio before I was governor ever received money which could be construed as a bribe or which could be construed as a contribution to a 'slush fund.' I defy anyone to prove the contrary."

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Katherine Williams of Escanaba; one sister, Mrs. Harry (Bernice) Faskett of Treenary and one brother, Earl of Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p. m. Tuesday and funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the funeral home chapel with the Rev. Konstantin Wipp officiating. Graveside services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Riverside Cemetery in Menominee.

MSU Trustees Split On Veep Appointment

DETROIT (AP) — Two of five Democratic Michigan State University trustees are reported squabbling today about whether to apply partisan politics in the selection of a new MSU vice president for business and finance.

Don Stevens of Okemos, chairman, and Warren Huff of Plymouth, were reported as the Democrats at odds by the Detroit Free Press, which said a three-letter exchange between the two had been turned over to it.

The newspaper said its source asked to remain anonymous.

The letters discussed selection of a successor to Philip J. May, a Republican, who resigned as MSU vice president for business and finance last Nov. 30 in the wake of conflict of interest charges.

Neither Huff nor Stevens was available for comment early today.

Quoting from what it said was a Stevens letter dated March 19, the newspaper said he wrote:

Seek Demo Advice
"I have been advised by Republican Trustee Kenneth Thompson that he has received from you biographical information on retired Admiral K. R. Wheeler, who you have suggested as a candidate for consideration for the post."

"In view of the political activity by ... May in the last two (election) campaigns ... it would seem appropriate to me that we five Democratic trustees seek the advice and counsel of Democratic Party leaders of the Michigan State University Democratic Academic Resources Council (DARC) and the leadership of the Democratic State Central Committee in filling this post."

"As you may know, many exceedingly well-qualified candidates have been suggested who, in addition, have contributed to the building of the Democratic party in Michigan."

Suggest Olds
"Specifically, I refer to Detroit City Controller Bernard W. Klein, Wayne County Auditor Richard Austin, Deputy U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity Director Robert Perrin, Deputy Assistant Director of Defense Jack Moskowitz, Deputy Michigan Auditor General Franklin Pinkelman, Green Bay (Wis.) Superintendent of Schools Edward Olds, and Deputy U.S. Assistant Secretary of Transportation John Sweeney."

"Finally and frankly, after experiencing the agony of the way the Republican trustees, Thompson and Merriman, worked hand in hand with former MSU vice president May...I, for one, couldn't care less whether they agree, disagree or indeed violently oppose our choice of a president, acting president, a vice president for business and finance, or the creation and filling of any position that we might create by using our five votes to amend the bylaws."

Divided Voice
Huff was quoted as replying in a letter dated March 23: "You seem to harbor considerable personal bitterness from the election campaign. I find self at variance with this position."

"I do not fear divided votes, but think these divisions should be on the basis of convictions, no party lines. I welcome the views of any group of individuals having an interest in the university...whether they be Democrats or Republicans."

Stevens reportedly closed the correspondence by writing March 27 that in his view "this appointment is a matter that should properly be discussed first with Democratic trustees and Democratic officials of the DARC and MSU, and officials of the Democratic State Central Committee."

A successor to May has not yet been named.

Mansfield Endorses Biennial Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has endorsed the idea of a Democratic National Convention every two years as a way to put political issues into better focus.

"The idea of a national convention every two years has a great deal of value," Mansfield said in an interview.

"It could flesh out the party policies so that the voters in Senate and House races would know where the Democrats stand nationally on the issues."

"The convention would have to be responsive to all segments of opinion in the party and it should represent all sections of the country. I believe it could play a worthwhile role in focusing the issues of the day."

Such a midterm convention was suggested by Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the 1968 Democratic vice presidential nominee, at last week's initial hearing of the Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection.

With last year's turbulent Chicago convention in mind, Muskie argued that the platform runs second best to the selection of a presidential nominee.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who bid unsuccessfully for the top nomination at Chicago, suggested a yearly convention. But Mansfield indicated he did not believe that would be practical and he was cool toward establishment of a party council that would issue Democratic policy statements.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the 1968 nominee, has suggested a party-wide conference prior to next year's elections.

But nobody yet has come up with any way that the Democratic National Committee, which hasn't paid for the Chicago convention yet, can finance another one next year.

Few Anglers On U.P. Streams

By The Associated Press

Fishing success was reported spotty during the weekend trout opener.

The turnout of anglers was fair to good.

Dave Borgeson, of the Department of Natural Resources fish division, was on the Aub Sable River early both Saturday and Sunday.

He reported quite a few fish caught on this favorite stream. Brown trout taken ranged from the legal 10 inches up to 12 inches. Brook trout taken were from seven to nine inches.

The weather was sunny and warm over most of the northern Lower Peninsula during the morning hours both Saturday and Sunday. Scattered showers then hit the area and it turned colder both afternoons.

Reports from the field agreed that the pesticide scare didn't keep any of the dedicated trout fishermen from opening the season.

The Marquette office reported fishermen were taking good catches of steelhead trout in the Upper Peninsula from streams running into Lake Superior.

A cold rain Saturday and snow flurries Sunday discouraged anglers and not many were out.

Few brook trout were taken from smaller streams, as anglers didn't want to wade the streams after them.

2 Escape Blast At Hubbell
HUBBELL (AP)—Two workmen escaped injury Saturday when a blast, believed due to an electric spark igniting gas fumes, caused extensive damage to the Calumet Division smelter building which is being dismantled at Calumet and Hecla Group's Hubbell facility.

Company officials said of the electrical and mechanical installations in the building were extensively damaged and one wall of the building was torn asunder. They made no estimate of damage other than to say it would be "pretty heavy."

The plant is being phased out permanently.

Nixon Finishes First 100 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says it is not what he has done in his first 100 days in office that really matters, but what he will accomplish over the long run.

"I don't count either the days or the hours, really," he told newsmen Sunday. "I never thought in those terms. I plan for a long term."

"The major principle I've always followed since I've been in government is never to be too concerned about tomorrow morning's story or today's story—headlines of the moment."

The President, who marks his first 100 days in office Tuesday, told reporters after White House church services that he decides policy with the idea that it will stand the long term test of time. "I'm not interested in ancient history or in instant history but only what will make good history in the future."

Since President Franklin D. Roosevelt set up the legislation that was the basis of his New Deal program in his first 100 days, the program has become a traditional measure of the progress of a new administration.

Housing Commission:

Gannon Resigns To Take Interim Director Office

John Gannon, chairman of the Escanaba Housing Commission, is scheduled to resign from the Commission to assume the position of interim housing director, City Manager George Harvey reported today.

Gannon will have an office in the City Hall and will later announce hours for persons to call upon him and submit their applications for housing. His office will be in the City Hall basement and he is generally there from 1 to 3 p.m.

The Council will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the County Building and will make appointments to the Housing Commission and other city boards and commissions including Civil Service, Zoning Appeals, Planning, Safety Advisory, Library Trustees, Recreation, and Board of Heating Examiners.

Mayor Chase Praised
There are presently about 450 applications for housing in the Senior Citizens' 18 story high rise apartment tower, for which ground will be broken at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The city manager praised Mayor Cecil B. Chase for his efforts in bringing the housing project for the elderly of low income to reality in Escanaba. The site is the 500 block of Ludington St., whose east two-thirds is being cleared of existing structures.

Mayor Chase "was tireless in his efforts and I think that without his help, we never would have succeeded," said Harvey.

Harvey outlined the progress schedule on the project as follows:

"On approximately May 15, the foundation will be poured for the building which will be an operation such as never seen before in Escanaba. After the groundwork is done, the Stevens Construction Co. claims to be able to pour one floor per week. It looks as if Escanaba's skyline will be rapidly changing this summer."

Up This Year

"We will have a big festive occasion at the dedication of the building upon its completion. The project should take in the vicinity of 15 months to complete; however, by this winter, all 18 stories should be up and the building should be completely enclosed."

The City Council on Thursday night will also have before it for consideration of the sale of adjacent properties for plant expansion of Andex Industries, sought by John Anthony.

Approval of the transfer of a liquor license from Mr. and Mrs. John Harris (the People's Hotel) to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Borst; report and recommendation on bids on asphalt and asphalt emulsion, are also scheduled.

A resolution in testimony to the community services rendered by Jean Worth, Daily Press editor; the hearing of objections to street and alley improvements and utility extensions; and a request for permission to break curb at 218 Stephenson Ave. are on the agenda also.

Warming Trend Forecast Here

Cloudy skies were expected to begin clearing in the Escanaba area this afternoon and evening, but below freezing temperatures were forecast tonight before a warming trend begins Tuesday.

The area escaped a spring snowstorm which dumped up to nine inches of snow along the southern shore of Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula, northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Nine inches of snow fell in Duluth, Minn., and Ashland, Wis., County sheriff's officers reported highways in that area treacherous under several inches of wet snow.

A strip of the Upper Peninsula from Marquette west to Ironwood reported an inch or two of snow fell Sunday.

Escanaba received only a few snow flurries this morning, but the ground was white in northern parts of the county.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported a chance of light rain or snow for this afternoon and evening with temperatures expected to drop to an unseasonal 25 degrees.

Sunny and cool weather with a high of about 48 degrees is predicted for Tuesday with fair and warmer weather expected Wednesday. Chance of precipitation was forecast as 30 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight and near zero Tuesday.

Winds will be out of the north-northeast between 15 and 30 miles per hour today and tonight, the Weather Bureau said.

A late season cold spell gripped the nation's midsection today, plunging early morning temperatures to near freezing from the Rockies to the northern Great Lakes.

A record low for the date was set at Scottsbluff, in the Nebraska Panhandle, where the mercury slid to 21.

A band of showers pouring from the central Gulf Coast to the eastern Great Lakes preceded the blast of arctic air.

Downpours soaked the Florida Keys and scattered showers dotted western sections of Washington and Oregon. The naval air station at Key West, Fla., recorded more than 4 inches of rain in a six-hour period.

The unexpected snow in the Midwest caused scattered power blackouts in Duluth, Minn., and cancellation of two airline flights into the city. Drifts up to 12 inches clogged highways in northern Wisconsin.

De Gaulle Resigns President's Post

to restore France's glory and to make her the leading nation of the European continent, he embarked the country on an expensive nuclear arms program. He sought to interpose France between the Western and Communist worlds by wooing the Kremlin and its allies in Eastern Europe and also by recognizing Red China. And after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, he withdrew long-standing French support of Israel and sided with the Arabs.

The big mystery now is why De Gaulle staked his prestige and his office on the referendum. Some of his closest advisers had warned him it was a mistake.

Court To Hear Draft As Punishment Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider claims that the accelerated draft of Vietnam war protesters is in violation of the Constitution.

Two separate appeals challenging the draft delinquency regulations will be heard next term. They were taken by the court over the opposition of the Justice Department.

Among the claims to be considered by the court are that the draft is being used to punish dissenters from U.S. war policy and that it is being used to stifle

Draft Policy

However, last December the court struck a blow at Selective Service policy by ruling draft boards have no authority to order the induction of divinity students as a means of punishing them for objecting to this country's actions in Vietnam.

That ruling, in the case of James J. Oestereich, dealt only with a small fraction of student protesters—those who have congressional exemptions from the draft.

The appeals granted review today could strike at the heart of Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's draft policy because the students involved are the more typical sort—they are not in a special category such as divinity students and had deferments rather than exemptions.

The appeals are from Timothy J. Breen, 21, of Westport, Conn., and David Earl Gutknecht, 22, of Gaylord, Minn.

Breen gave his draft certificate to a Boston clergyman in November 1967 to protest the war. He was then an undergraduate student at the Berkeley School of Music in Boston.

He was declared a delinquent in January 1968 and was recalled to I-A. He sued to enjoin his induction.

Speed-Ups

Gutknecht left his draft card on the steps of the federal building in Minneapolis during an anti-war protest in October 1967. He was declared a delinquent two months later and ordered to report for induction. He refused to accept induction, was convicted and sentenced to four years in prison.

Draft Director Hershey, in a memorandum to local draft boards in October 1967, encouraged them to use the delinquency regulations against young men who engage in "illegal activity."

The Justice Department, in response to the appeals, told the court it found no fault with the speeded-up induction of youths who do not have draft cards in their possession. The department also rejected the contention the First Amendment's free speech guarantee was being violated.

Nixon Eyes West White House

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The potential site of the little White House is a quiet seacoast town of 17,500.

"I hope the feeling of friendliness—which is what we like about being here—will remain as it is," said a motel owner who has lived in San Clemente for 22 years.

"We hope that the neighborliness we old-timers have will rub off on those who may come to see the Nixons."

The 10-room Spanish style house that a Nixon spokesman says the President is negotiating for is halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego and 38 miles from Yorba Linda, Nixon's birthplace in Orange County.

When Nixon was a boy, most of the country was ranchland. Now it's one of the fastest developing areas in the nation.

The stately adobe house Nixon has his eye on is owned by Victoria C. Ogden, daughter of Henry Hamilton Cotton, one of the developers of San Clemente. Cotton bought the 20-acre estate and built the secluded, tiled-roofed house in 1924.

The Ogden house, on a bluff overlooking the ocean and with the vast Camp Pendleton Marine base to the south, is surrounded by cypress, palm, eucalyptus, orange and lemon trees. It has thick wooden doors, floors laid with Mexican tile and a courtyard fountain.

"It will probably have some effect on business, especially in the area of real estate values," said Police Chief Clifford Murray. "But we certainly hope it will not alter the very character of our town, the quiet and relaxed atmosphere which we believe may be one of the reasons why the President likes it here."

And a local businessman said, "Maybe we can let him enjoy a weekend alone once in a while."

Augenstein For Action Against Campus Violence

LANSING (AP)—A member of the State Board of Education called today for immediate action against campus violence such as has been sweeping colleges around the nation.

"The line between constructive commitment and action and rampant disruption and destruction must be clearly drawn," Dr. Leroy Augenstein said in a letter to his colleagues on the board.

Augenstein urged adoption of a program to oppose what he said was a small minority who subvert reason by force and supplant debate with guns.

Declaring he had been tempted to take action in the past by violence at Columbia University and San Francisco State College, Augenstein declared that his point of no return was passed when a "group of gun-toting rioters forced Cornell officials to submit to their demands."

Undoubtedly, he added, "these concessions obtained essentially at gun point will merely whet the appetites of the rioters there and throughout the country."

Woolworth Maps Huge Expansion

NEW YORK—F. W. Woolworth Co. today announced plans to add 10 million square feet in an expansion and modernization program during the next three years. The schedule includes Woolworth, Woolco Department Stores, Kinney Shoe and Richman Brothers stores.

The three-year projection does not include expansion planned by its unconsolidated subsidiary, F. W. Woolworth & Co., Ltd., Great Britain.

Programmed construction of the consolidated companies will provide for 624 new retail units, the modernization and enlargement of 185 units and the construction of 25 additional Harvest House cafeterias.

Realization of this expansion program will be dependent on the ability of developers and landlords to fulfill commitments faced with tax changes and credit conditions.

"In observance of our 90th anniversary during 1969 we are giving an extra push to our long-term drive for expansion in the retail field," said Robert C. Kirkwood, chairman, and Lester A. Burcham, president.

The three-year expansion plan calls for the construction of 120 new Woolworth stores of a size more than three times that of the average new store opened 10 years ago. They will carry extensive lines of merchandise with strong emphasis on high-fashion wearables.

Modernization programs will enlarge the size of 150 existing stores.

The company's Woolco Department Stores Division will open a minimum of 100 new units in the United States and Canada in the three-year program. Kinney Shoe Corp., a Woolworth subsidiary, has a three-year schedule to open 289 new stores and leased units. Richman Brothers, a recently acquired Woolworth subsidiary, is scheduled to open 100 new retail stores and leased departments.

THIS DIAGRAM illustrates the change in revenues the State of Michigan received this year in vehicle license fees. Car owners suffered a large increase — as planned — while state truck operators may have gotten off too lightly — which was not the general intention. (AP Wirephoto)

Trucker's Tax Break Embarrassing To State

By TOM LA ROCHELLE

LANSING (AP) — Michigan truck owners received what appears to be an unintentional tax break on their license fees this year and it's causing acute embarrassment in the Legislature, state departments and the trucking industry.

According to plan, 1969 license plates were supposed to cost substantially more for passenger cars and trucks. The object was to pump critically needed additional money into the state's highway maintenance and construction fund because inflation is squeezing the roadbuilders like everyone else.

"If Michigan was going to have the ability to stay even on road maintenance, we had to have this fee hike," said Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, chairman of the Senate Highway Committee.

But the money from the trucks isn't coming in as it should. There are plenty of people in Lansing scrambling about to try to find out why not.

No Lobbying

An investigation by the Battle Creek Enquirer and News indicates the Legislature relied on outside coaching and revenue projections which didn't pan out.

As far as could be determined, there was no sinister lobbying to deliberately win the truckers a tax break at the expense of the private car owner. The chief spokesman for the Michigan Trucking Association pointedly denies any such thing took place.

Whatever the reasons which produced the complicated dilemma, these are some of the results:

—Losers may be the State Highway Department, county road commissions and cities, all of which counted on the maximum increase in state funds for new road construction and repair of old routes.

—The Legislature is confused by this hangover from a problem of insufficient road monies which it thought it had solved in 1967 by action on a "good roads" package of bills.

Shook Up

—Members who helped get legislation passed are disappointed. Rep. J. Robert Traxler, an outspoken Bay City Democrat and a lawyer, is convinced the Legislature was taken in by special interest groups and that "a deal was made" — but he admits he has no proof of that.

—The Trucking Association, says managing director Jack L. McNamara, still is not convinced expected bigger truck revenues won't show up, at least in part. Meanwhile, the commercial trucking industry in the state is "real shook up" about the adverse publicity, which suggests the truckers took care of themselves with some classy lobbying. McNamara indicated the truckers he represents don't want anti-truck sentiment to grow among motorists and legislators who might believe the truckers now are tax-dodgers.

Remedial Action

—There is a strong prospect for remedial legislation to try once more to get the desired hike in truck license fees. But no one is sure yet whether such an amendment should be sought in this session of the Legislature or the next one. Shortage of experience with the new fee formula is given as the reason for going slow.

—The public isn't aroused yet, mainly because of indecision in Lansing and because the issue is so complicated at first glance. Car owners were up in arms when the car plate increase surfaced in the Capital two years ago. Mail against the proposal was heavy. So far, there has been little public outcry about the failure to get into the truckers' pockets as deeply as planned. Perhaps those people who understand the issue are willing to believe the Legislature made an innocent blunder and should work its way out of it as it sees fit.

$2 Million Loss

The effect of the new license fee law, shown by still incomplete figures, is this: Passenger car plates were jumped to a $20 average as the car weight fee per 100 pounds was raised from 35 cents to 55 cents.

State income on passenger cars jumped from $31 million last year to about $52 million on 1969 plates for Michigan's nearly three million autos. That works out to a 58-60 per cent hike for the car owners as anticipated, according to George Stevens, director of driver vehicle services in the department of Secretary of State James Hare.

The predetermined and mutually agreed target for truck licenses was a 10 per cent increase above the previous year's $29 million. Instead, because of a brand new "gross vehicle weight" assessment formula, truck fee income to the state has shown a drop of about $2 million.

Even at that, with about $18 million more in the road fund from cars, there is some question in the Capitol whether State Highway Director Henrik Stafseth and spokesmen for the cities and counties will press hard to make up the loss from trucker fees. But most agree there may be a serious issue of equity between passenger car owners and truck operators to be resolved.

Beatles In Trouble With Their Image

LONDON (AP) — These are changing times for the Beatles. "Once we were everyone's darlings," says George Harrison, "but it isn't like that any more. They hate us."

Ringo Starr adds: "It's shocking the way some sections of the public have turned on us. It's completely unmerited."

What's happened to the Beatle image?

George, Ringo and the other Beatles—John Lennon and Paul McCartney—haven't given a public performance together in two years although they have continued to make hit recordings.

Their joint business enterprises have run into problems. George and John were recently fined on drugs charges.

Sleep-In

John and his Japanese bride, Yoko Ono, drew some barbed comments from British newspapers when they spent their honeymoon ostensibly as a sleep-in for world peace, and invited full publicity.

Amidst all this activity, Ringo Starr was busy on a separate career as a movie actor. But he had not turned his back on his fellow Beatles.

In an interview he insisted that the Beatles were retaining their fans and that their financial affairs were being straightened out.

The interview was on the set of "The Magic Christian", a film that pairs Ringo with actor Peter Sellers.

Popular

Dressed in a brown suit, extravagant bow tie and frilly shirt, Ringo talked as much with gestures as with words, between mouthfuls in the studio canteen. His hair hung in long folds over his shoulders and his Mexican-type mustache drooped over his mouth. He looked heavier than his 150 pounds distributed over his five-foot-eight frame.

"Despite the critics we are as popular as ever," insisted Ringo.

To back up his point, Electrical and Musical Industries—EMI—who cut the Beatles discs, reported the group's recording of "Hey Jude" last fall sold 750,000 copies in Britain alone—equalling sales of previous releases.

In 1965 the Beatles were decorated with the Order of the British Empire for promoting British exports.

"We've done a lot for this country," Ringo said. "We don't necessarily want any thanks, but at least we don't want to be criticized every step of the way."

"Just because John leads a different sort of life than most people that doesn't give everyone the right to attack him out of hand."

Deny Break-Up

"I would never be seen in the nude," added Ringo. "John can get away with it, but I never could."

Ringo denied rumors that the group was breaking up. He said he did not expect them to perform together in public again, but insisted they would remain together for recordings, films and broadcasts.

"We've our own separate interests to develop," he said. "We shall branch out and pursue our individual careers, but we shall always be the Beatles."

Powers-Spalding

A committee meeting for the sheltered workshop for the northern part of Menominee County will be held this evening at 7 in the Powers-Spalding School. A site committee report and a progress report will be given. The public is invited to attend.

Wastewater Is Council Topic

Marvin Van Eyck of the Ann Arbor engineering firm of McNamee, Porter and Seely will discuss a preliminary study and costs of establishing a phosphorus removal plant with city council when they meet tonight at 7:30 in city hall.

Council was told by a representative of the Water Resources Commission in March that they must comply with a state ruling and establish a wastewater treatment plant aimed at controlling pollution of Lake Michigan.

The state has set June 1972 as the target date to comply with their ultimatum that all cities discharging waste into Lake Michigan have such a facility operational.

One other item is included on council's agenda: consideration of an ordinance to regulate the partitioning and dividing of lots, outlots and other parcels of land in recorded plats.

Altar Society Honors Pastor On Anniversary

Msgr. Francis M. Scheringer was specially honored at a meeting of the St. Anne's Altar Society last week to mark the 36th anniversary of his ordination into the priesthood.

A 7:30 p.m. Mass in the Parish Center, celebrated by Father Scheringer, opened the evening.

Buffet refreshments were served by St. Christopher's Circle. A special anniversary cake, made by Mrs. Matt Weber, and a garden centerpiece, made by Mrs. Leonard Walters, dominated the buffet serving table.

Msgr. Scheringer was presented gifts to mark the occasion. He has been pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church since 1952.

The Society also welcomed Mrs. James Coluzzi, Mrs. Archie DeSautel, Mrs. Burcell and Miss Ann Tomico into membership.

New Officers Elected At Bark River PTA

Harold Bergquist was elected president of the Bark River-Harris PTA at the meeting held Wednesday night in the high school. Other officers who will serve with Bergquist during the ensuing year are: First Vice-President, Terry DeLoughery; Second Vice-President, Howard Erickson; Secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Murray; Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Bell; Historian, Mrs. Edward Mott.

Mrs. Hector Larson's eighth grade and the senior class tied for room count. Carl Ahlin, member of the Board of Education, answered questions in regard to the pending school consolidation and Paul Blewett reported on the Parochial Bill.

He also suggested a revision of the local PTA Constitution which would allow an election of a president, First and Second vice-president, with the First vice-president moving up to president and the Second vice-president becoming First, thus electing a Second vice-president each year instead of a complete slate of officers.

PTA money will be used to purchase equipment for the school. Suggested were mats for head start, tumbling mats for the gym and a record player. This was tabled until the May meeting.

Lunch was served by the seventh grade mothers following the business meeting.

Skin Specialist Shows How to Rinse Away Blackheads

Fast, Easy Treatment now available for home use!

By INA LEE

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rinses away blackheads and white heads in a matter of minutes. I saw it demonstrated recently on five women and two teenage boys.

Richard Estrin of Queen Helene

The results were almost breath-taking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cleansing tissues that finished each treatment.

But this wasn't all! In the case of two older women, I saw enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexions made cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. In the case of teen-agers, I saw acne pimples improve after one application. . . After seeing these results, I can well understand why so many beauticians are now acclaiming this doctor's treatment as one of the most important beauty discoveries.

Anyone Can Use It

The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory-developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is rinsed off, a delightful mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores. . . In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

Pore Sponging and Closing

The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique antiseptic astringent — a facial "mint julep" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and leaves a protective invisible film that helps guard your skin against dust, dirt and bacteria for hours and hours.

Nothing Else Like It

Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rinse away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer — feels fresher & more alive!

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks . . . but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week — or every second week — will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely & healthy looking.

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured & quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as complete skin and beauty kit for 3.98. Quite a bargain when you think of what it will do for a person's good looks — and self-esteem!

TRY THE TISSUE TEST! First wash face thoroughly, then apply treatment: tissue off . . . Now you can see . . . tiny specks of black on your tissue that were once ugly blackheads and imbedded pore dirt.

1. First apply Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream. This liquefies instantly on your skin and softens pore-caked dirt with its rapid emollient action. You tissue off all but a thin film which prepares your face for the masque.

2. Now smooth on the Queen Helene Medicated Masque. As the absorbing agent, Argilla, in this plastic-like cream makes it harden into a masque, its powerful drawing action gently pulls out blackheads and other pore impurities.

3. After about 8 or 10 minutes, rinse off the masque with lukewarm water. It dissolves in seconds. Then apply Queen Helene Mint Julep Astringent — a special penetrating antiseptic that helps close emptied pores, tones up your complexion, and gives protection against dirt and bacteria for hrs.

Boston Stays Alive By Upending Lakers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, lifted back into contention by Larry Siegfried's inspired performance, hope to become the first team in National Basketball Association history to come back from a 2-0 deficit to win the championship playoff series.

"Siegfried was the difference," Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff said Sunday after the fiery backcourt performer came off the bench to lead the Celtics past the Lakers 111-105 in the third game Sunday.

"He gave us a big game offensively and defensively—and don't forget he was hurting too," Boston player-coach Bill Russell said of the former Ohio State star who has been hampered by a hamstring pull and a hip injury.

Siegfried had averaged only

5.5 points in the two losses at Los Angeles. He exploded Sunday, however, before 14,033 cheering fans at Boston Garden plus a national television audience.

Coming into the game late in the first period he played most of the way after that, hitting 10 of 16 shots and 8 of 9 free throws for 28 points.

The scoring of Siegfried and John Havlicek, who scored 34 points, kept the Celtics alive in the third period when the Lakers erased a 17-point halftime deficit to go ahead by three points, 78-75.

The same pair led the Celtics back in a fourth period counter-attack to wrap up the game.

Jerry West, who had averaged 47 points in the two victories at Los Angeles, led the Lakers with 24 points. He too thought Siegfried was the difference.

"He hasn't played very much, so when he comes up with a ball game like that it really hurts us," West said.

"After we caught up we just died," he said. "I really got tired. I really didn't have much left."

The defending champions have a chance to even the best-of-7 series in the fourth game at Boston Garden Tuesday night. The fifth game will be in Los Angeles Thursday night.

In the American Basketball Association Saturday night Indiana beat Miami, 127-105, to win the Eastern Division finals, 4-1. Indiana opens the ABA finals in Oakland Wednesday night.

USSA Sanction Given To Races

MARQUETTE (AP) — Wisconsin will host the major share of 1969-70 snowmobile races which received sanction Sunday from the central board of the U.S. Snowmobile Association.

The Badger State also is dominate in a list of 15 other dates for which sanction was requested. The board postponed action on the 15 while endorsing five meets in Wisconsin, one in Minnesota and three in Michigan.

The sanctioned Wisconsin meets are Crandon Dec. 20-21, Minocqua Dec. 27-28, Wausau Jan. 3-4, Eagle River Jan. 23-25, Sturgeon Bay Feb. 7-8. Other meets are Ironwood Dec. 12-14, Munising Feb. 27 - March 1, Bellaire Feb. 13-15, and Duluth, Minn., Feb. 6-8.

McCovey Clobbers Astros With Game Winning Blasts

By The Associated Press
Clyde King and Jim Davenport speak lavishly about the hitting exploits of Willie McCovey, but the towering slugger is content to speak softly while carrying his big bat.

"I don't want to talk about it too much because I'll probably go into a slump," he said after clobbering Houston over the head with two game-winning three-run homers Sunday as San Francisco swept the Astros 4-2 and 8-5.

But King, manager of the Giants, and infielder Davenport have done plenty of talking, praising the 6-foot-5 first baseman as the top slugger in the National League.

"I had an awesome fear of McCovey as a rival," King added, "and now I have tremendous respect for him as a slugger and hitter."

McCovey certainly has been living up to that calling this season, leading the league with eight homers and 21 runs batted in.

McCovey's big bat carried the Giants into a tie for first place with Los Angeles in the NL

West Division after the Dodgers dropped Atlanta out of a share of the lead by routing the Braves 10-0 behind Don Sutton's four-hitter.

Cleon Jones raised his league leading average to .443 with five hits for six RBI, including a three-run homer in the ninth inning that salvaged a 3-0 victory for the New York Mets over Chicago after the Cubs had won the opener 8-6.

In other games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 1-0 on Jerry Johnson's four-hitter, Montreal dropped Pittsburgh 4-2 and San Diego swept Cincinnati 5-2 and 10-9 in 13 innings.

Breaks Deadlock

McCovey, 31-year-old slugger in his 10th big league season who has driven in 384 runs and hit 142 homers in the last four years after leading the league with 102 and 44 in 1963, capped a four-run seventh inning in the opener with his first shot, breaking a 5-5 deadlock.

Houston had taken a 4-0 lead in that one on Hector Torres' grand slam, but the Giants tied 4-4 on Jack Hiatt's three-run homer before Joe Morgan's solo blast out the Astros in front again.

In the nightcap, McCovey erased a 2-1 deficit in the sixth inning, giving the Giants their sixth consecutive victory and sending Houston to its fifth loss in a row and 12th in 13 games.

Sutton, 2-2, had it easy as Andy Kosco extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a single and double for three runs and Bill Grabarkewitz added three more with a double and triple and stole home for another marker.

Loss In Ninth
Jones' double and two singles in the opener helped the Mets build a 6-3 lead, but two errors in the ninth inning set up four unearned Chicago runs, the last two on Randy Hundley's homer.

But after Billy Williams' error and an intentional walk, Jones unloaded in the nightcap for only the fourth hit off starter Rich Nye. Jim McAndrews, who left with a blister and runners on second and third with none out in the sixth, and Tug McGraw blanked the Cubs.

Deron Johnson gave Jerry

Bando, Robinson Bombard Opponents With Big Bats

By The Associated Press
After a couple of false starts, Sal Bando has rediscovered Seattle and Frank Robinson has repossessed New York.

Oakland's Bando, 0-for-10 at Seattle in two previous games, drove in seven runs Sunday with two homers and a single as the Athletics blitzed the expansion Pilots 13-5.

Baltimore's Robinson, 1-for-10 in a pair of losses to New York Friday night and Saturday, broke loose with two homers, four singles and eight RBI, leading the Orioles to a 6-0, 10-5 doubleheader sweep over the Yankees.

Bando went on the biggest run-producing spree of his pro career in Seattle's Sicks' Stadium, which he had visited regularly as a Pacific Coast League standout before moving up the majors. "I played here in 1967 with Vancouver," said the husky Oakland third baseman, "but those fences are closer now."

Robinson, who had helped the Orioles win 41 of 54 games against New York from 1966 through '68 got them even with the Yankees this spring while taking the American League lead in homers, nine, and RBI, 22 and hiking his batting average to .373.

In other AL action, Washington extended Cleveland's losing streak to 10 games with a 6-5 victory over the Indians; Detroit slugged Boston 7-4; Minnesota edged Chicago 4-3 in a game shortened to eight innings by rain and California topped Kansas City 6-2.

Bando sent the Athletics ahead to stay in the first inning with a two-run homer, slammed a three-run homer in the sixth and singled two more runs across in the eighth, helping rookie right-hander Rolfe Fingers nail his second victory without a loss.

Frank Robinson delivered four runs in each game as the Orioles surged to a 2½-game lead over runner-up Boston in the East Division. He cracked a two-run homer and two run-scoring singles in the opener, backing the six-hit pitching of Mike Cuellar. Star Bahnsen, last year's rookie of the year, took the loss, his fifth without a victory.

In the nightcap, the Yankees jumped to a 3-0 first inning lead, knocking out Tom Phoebus, and led 4-1 until the fifth, when Frank Robinson belted a three-run homer. Relief pitcher Dick Hall singled home the go-ahead run and Frank Robinson poked another RBI single in the sixth.

Slump-ridden Brooks Robinson accounted for the Orioles' last four runs with a pair of homers.

The Senators bunched all five of their hits against Cleveland in a six-run fourth inning burst, with pitcher Frank Bertina's three-run homer the big blow, and held off the hapless Indians, who have dropped 15 of 16 games in all.

Duke Sims and Zoilo Versalles homered for the Indians, who got hitless pitching from loser Stan Williams and reliever Jack Hamilton in every inning but the sixth.

Rod Carew's two-run seventh inning homer shot the Twins past the White Sox before the rains came. Harmon Killebrew poked his 40th career homer for Minnesota, which leads the West Division by one half game over Oakland.

Bobby Knoop's two-run single in the fourth inning sent California ahead to stay at Kansas City and the Angels pulled away, with Jay Johnstone and Rick Reichardt also driving in two runs each.

Tigers Beat Bosox; Losing Streak Ends

DETROIT (AP) — Medications made Dick McAuliffe as limp as an empty banana peel Sunday.

But the Detroit second baseman, stricken by a virus, turned that into the medicine that ended the Tigers losing streak at four games as they beat Boston 7-3 behind Denny McLain.

"I feel weak but I think that's good," said a glossy-eyed McAuliffe after the game. "I'm real loose and even a little tight-headed."

Mac had been out of the lineup for several days because of a virus that sent his temperature soaring to 101 degrees two days ago.

Big Day

But Sunday he floated out to his second base post, filled with various fever pills, and played nearly the whole game. He knocked in three runs with a homer and a single to team up with rookie Ron Woods as hitting heroes. Woods knocked in two runs with his first major league hit.

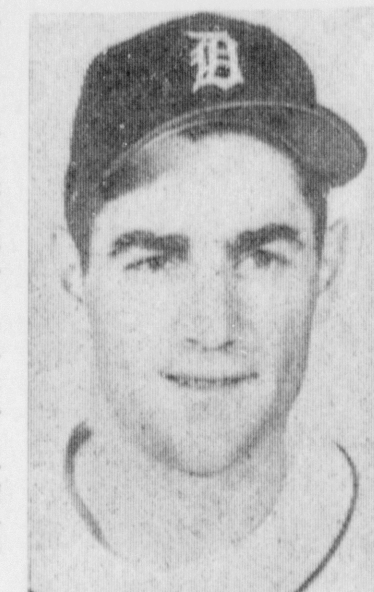

"That's the greatest thing that could happen," McAuliffe said of his pharmaceutical looseness after he wandered out of the dressing room shower. "I wish I could feel like this all year."

After a McLain single in the fifth, Mac hit a two-run homer off Boston starter Sonny Siebert, one of the Red Sox acquisitions from the recent Ken Harrelson trade. McAuliffe knocked in another run in the seventh with a single that sent home Tom Matchick who tripled.

Woods Sparkles

Woods replaced Willie Horton in the top of the seventh and sent home two runs in the bottom of the inning with a single off reliever Bill Landis. Horton provided a scare to Tiger management in the third when he crashed into the leftfield wall while taking a homer away from Mike Andrews.

"No bone was involved," said Detroit Manager Mayo Smith.

Dick McAuliffe

Horton hit a solo homer in the second.

"I feel better now," said Woods about his initial hit. "I feel I'm a major leaguer in more than words—I got a hit."

He said all the "scrubs" on the team have a game going every day that forces them to pay $1 fine for extra cuts during batting practice.

"I was the first one to pay the fine, but it keeps you on your toes," he said.

Not Nervous

Woods said he wasn't unusually nervous at the plate. "You go up there all the time with the idea you'll get a base hit, but you know you won't," he said. "I was fortunate to get a pitch to hit."

"All the guys came over and shook my hand later in the dugout," he added. "And I've got the ball I hit."

The Tigers scored a lone run in the third when Mac walked, took second on a fielder's choice, and scored on a single by Al Kaline.

McLain evened his record at 3-3 and appeared headed for a shutout 7-0 until Andrews uncorked his fourth homer of the year into the lower deck in left. Then the Red Sox rallied in the ninth.

Remain Alive

Pat Dobson came in to put out the fire, but Boston managed a pair of runs on a triple to Rico Petrocelli, a single to Joe Azcue, a walk to pinch hitter Joe Lahoud, a walk to Billy Conigliaro and a sacrifice fly by Andrews.

There were several sparkling fielding plays by both sides in the game. Besides Horton's grab, Jim Northrup made a hard-running overhand catch of a fly by pinch hitter Dick Schofield near the flag pole in center. First baseman Dalton Jones made a fine play of a hot grounder by McAuliffe in the first and on the next play Andrews went deep in the hole to take a single away from Mickey Stanley.

Montreal Wins Opener Of Stanley Cup Finals

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Louis Blues are struck in a rut and Coach Scotty Bowman has to find a way out of it in a hurry.

The Blues, easy champions in the National Hockey League's West Division and winners of eight straight early-round Stanley Cup playoff games, dropped a 3-1 decision to Montreal Sunday in the nationally televised opener of the best-of-7 Cup finals.

It wasn't exactly a new feeling.

St. Louis lost four straight to the Canadiens in the Cup finals a year ago and in the two seasons since they were born out of expansion the Blues have a cumulative record of 0-13-2 against the Canadiens.

The numbers don't exactly inspire confidence in St. Louis' chances for taking the Cup away from the Canadiens.

Montreal jumped to a 2-0 lead on goals 38 seconds apart by Dick Duff and Bobby Rousseau. Then, the Canadiens sat on the bulge.

Duff scored on a power play, beating goalie Jacques Plante, an ex-Canadien, on a close-up shot at 3:39. Then, Rousseau, out killing a penalty, drilled a high, hard one past Plante at 4:17.

"It's tough to give them a jump like that," said Bowman. "We had to play catch-up hockey."

The Blues caught up a little when Frank St. Marseille beat Rogation Vachon, Montreal's goalie, with a screen shot in the final two minutes of the opening period.

"We let them carry the play too much after we had the lead," said Claude Ruel, coach of the Canadiens.

The second period was scoreless and play remained much the same for the final 20 minutes, with John Ferguson supplying Montreal's cushion goal with 14 seconds left after Plante had been pulled for an extra attacker.

"I don't think it was one of our better games," said Jean Beliveau, captain of the Canadiens, who's played enough of them to know.

Moments before Ferguson scored the crusher, St. Louis defenseman Barclay Plager collided behind the Montreal net with Jacques Lemaire. Plager was carried off the ice on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for x-rays of his ribs. It turned out to be a muscle spasm in the lower back and he was released Sunday night and was expected to be available for game No. 2.

Little League Resumes Search

Little League managers will continue their search for new talent this week with the need to replace 60 graduating Little Leaguers from the 1968 season.

The schedule for the coming week is as follows: Tuesday Claude Bohn, Wednesday John Chylek, and Thursday John Hirm. All tryouts are scheduled for the Little League diamond adjacent to the water tower area and will begin about 5:15. The final tryout will take place Saturday morning, but ten, eleven and twelve year boys are reminded that to be eligible for Little League or minor league play this year their name must appear on the player auction list.

Reporters Defend Legislative Gripes

LANSING (AP) — The press wasn't very popular in some legislative quarters for a while. Unhappy over some bad publicity in news stories and stung by editorial criticism, legislators took to the floor of both the House and Senate to chastize the press as a matter of "personal privilege."

"I get just a little bit weary of some stories that are based on half-truths," complained Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville. "Some of the news media has a propensity for recording facts incorrectly," contended Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood.

Such phrases as "journalistic fiasco," "out-and-out mistruth," and "false or inaccurate statements," resounded throughout the legislative chambers.

Public Image

The furor was touched off principally by news reports concerning the expense accounts of legislators in which some lawmakers were reported to be unhappy over the $3,000 ceiling on expenses. Some also were reported to have been submitting questionable claims.

Rep. David Serotkin, R-Mount Clemens, voiced what was really on the minds of many legislators.

Referring to what he said was the awesome power the press has, Serotkin declared that "the public image which each of us has in our public life is really the creature of the news media."

Public confidence in the Legislature, he said, is at a low ebb.

"We have to survive or fall with the image which is created for us," Serotkin asserted, "and when attacks or articles are printed which seem to extend to the entire membership of the legislatures—alleged abuses of individuals—a disservice is done to the rest of the membership."

Great Effect

"This can have a great effect in swing districts in this state, where elections are hotly contested, where it takes very little to swing the ballots one way or the other..."

Most members of the Capitol press corps agree that nobody's perfect, not even reporters, and errors sometimes creep into news stories inadvertently.

But they also point out that some legislators have only themselves to blame for misunderstandings or misinterpretations.

Close Door

Example after example has been noted by newsmen on the Lansing beat during the current legislative session:

—The Senate Appropriations committee closes the door to reporters and goes into executive session while deciding what to do on the controversial issue of school aid.

—A legislator is asked why he voted a certain way on a key education bill, says "no comment" and walks away, leaving the reporter no choice but to try to get the answer second-hand.

—A lawmaker insists that an anticrime bill of which he is the chief sponsor doesn't contain a certain provision as reported by a newsmen. A doublecheck on the measure proves the legislator is wrong and the reporter is right.

Commenting on the role of the press, Serotkin urged the news media to recognize that with freedom of the press comes the corresponding obligation to report the facts after careful examination.

Cooperates

No responsible member of the Capitol press corps would argue that point.

But many feel that legislators might do well to heed the advice of the Legislative Council in the "Michigan Legislator's Guidebook." It says:

"The only defenses against misinterpretation of a legislator's actions or views back in his district are honesty and completeness."

"There still lives an age-old tradition among legislators which others who have gone before have found avoids the boomerang of misunderstanding and contention:

"Cooperate completely with the press, and be completely candid. If there is some fact you cannot divulge for a legitimate reason, tell him why. But never, never intentionally mislead a reporter."

Army Goofs In Jailing Man, 23

ROYAL OAK, (AP) — A 23-year-old Royal Oak man says he was held in jail for 50 days before the Army realized a records mixup caused him to be listed as absent without leave.

"The Army violated my constitutional rights," said Robert McKay. "They have apologized to me up one side and down the other."

McKay, however, said he is nearly broke as a result of the incident, which started last July 9. McKay, who served six months of active duty in the National Guard four years ago, said he was given two sets of orders.

One told him to report to Ft. Wayne in Detroit for a physical examination. The other ordered him to active duty at Ft. Carson, Colorado.

McKay was a private first class at the time and had been in a control group waiting for an opening to be attached to a regular National Guard unit.

The physical examination at Ft. Wayne showed he was not fit for active duty and the commanding officer told him not to report to Ft. Carson. However, the medical records were not forwarded.

McKay said he was arrested March 1 by Birmingham police and charged with writing two insufficient funds checks, which were dropped after he made restitution.

However, he remained in Oakland County jail without bond when the Army said he was AWOL. Military police took him to Ft. Carson April 15, but four days later the Army released him and apologized when it discovered the medical report had not been sent by Ft. Wayne through the correct channels.

McKay said he sold his car for attorney's fees, and that he lost his job and apartment as a result of the jailing.

"I'm going to let them know they can't get away with this," he said. He contacted the office of U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Royal Oak and the American Civil Liberties Union to protest.

"There's no question that he got a raw deal," said his attorney, Bruce Leitman. "But technically he is still in the National Guard. I think I'd go slow if the Army still had me under its thumb."

Rowboat Dunks Fleeing Cubans

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — Two Cubans with an urge to get to Miami are back in Canada after the rowboat taking them to the United States sank in the St. Clair River near Marine City, Mich.

The Cubans, identified as Gorge Sablon de Herrera, 26, and his brother Tomas, 23, both of Havana, were turned over to Canadian immigration officials by U.S. border patrolmen.

The brothers, both members of Cuba's merchant marine, were fished out of 40-degree water when their 12-foot dinghy leaked and sank Saturday night.

They told an interpreter in Sarnia they came to Canada aboard the freighter Santiago from Havana. Gorge was the ship's cook and Tomas was a stowaway. They jumped ship in Saint John, N.B.

Gorge said they had been trying for four years to get out of Cuba. A previous attempt to escape in a small boat failed for lack of gasoline.

They said they hoped to cross the Canadian border to where their brother Manuel, 36, who lives in Decatur, Ga., was waiting. From there they planned to go to Miami, where they had heard immigration officials were lenient to Cuban refugees.

The brothers were granted political asylum in Halifax and they applied for a visa to the United States. But they were too impatient to wait for it to be processed.

Gladstone News

Two Injured In Delta Ave. Auto Accident

Two persons were injured, neither seriously, in a two-car accident on Delta Ave. Saturday night.

Gladstone Police said a car driven by Walter M. Eagle, 22, Brampton, crossed the center line and collided with a car driven by Michael Beek, 17, Rapid River.

Eagle and a passenger in his car, Kenneth Chroge, 23, also of Brampton, were injured in the accident, but not hospitalized. Eagle was ticketed for careless driving, officers said.

Willard J. Clark, 219 S. 18th St., Escanaba, was ticketed for improper backing Saturday after he backed his vehicle into a car driven by Bonnie Johnson, 112 S. 14th St., Gladstone, officers reported.

City To Review 1969-70 Budget

The City Commission will consider its 1969-70 budget when it meets at 7:30 p. m. today at the City Hall.

Other items on the agenda prepared by City Manager H. J. Henrikson include final action on front end loader bids, consideration of change orders on the water filtration plant construction, and a communication regarding care of the steam locomotive near the Soo Line depot.

Briefly Told

The Gladstone Masonic Smear Club will have their year-end banquet at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, April 30. All regular and substitute players are eligible to attend. Prizes for winning team will be awarded.

The Bicycle Safety Day program has been rescheduled for Saturday from 12:30 to 4 p. m. in the playground area of All Saints School. The program was postponed Sunday because of bad weather.

Donors

A blood drive conducted April 15 at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base was termed a success by Col. Billy G. Gant, commander, 806th Medical Group. One hundred and sixty five pints of blood were collected. This deleted the negative balance the base had with the Upper Peninsula Blood Bank, and built up well over 100 pints to draw on.

Mistletoe prefers members of the pine family, but occasionally grows on oak, sycamore and mesquite.

Deaton's Fame Is Gate Crashing

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Will Haskell Deaton make it to victory lane in the Indianapolis 500 auto race again this year? Don't bet against him.

Deaton, a 51-year-old tire sales executive from Charlotte, crashed the 1968 winner's circle despite the fact that he had no reason to be there.

It wasn't a novel experience for Deaton—he's been a gate crasher for years.

At Indianapolis, he used borrowed credentials to crack the tight security. Once in, he helped properly accredited Bob Wilkie of Milwaukee, owner of the winning car, get past guards to join driver Bobby Unser in the celebration.

Deaton said he has used ventriloquism to get into most major football stadiums in the South and a few in the Midwest.

Throws Voice
"I just stand at the gate and throw my voice from inside to the gate man," Deaton said. "I tell him to let that man in. It worries them sometimes when I refuse to go in when I'm called. They start fidgeting when the calls keep coming and insist I'd better get on in there. So I hush to them."

Deaton uses nerve, charm and a salesman's patter to join top personalities.

He broke through Secret Service protection to accompany President Harry S. Truman on a tour of the North Carolina State Fair. He beat the governor of North Carolina, the mayor of Raleigh and top Army officials in welcoming Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to the state for a tour.

His files are full of photos of Deaton with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Howard Hughes, Eisenhower and dozens of movie stars, race car drivers and politicians.

Had To Pay
Not all of his exploits have been successes, however. Deaton had to pay for a window broken when a cook hurled a chicken the length of the restaurant after an exhibition of ventriloquism.

The cook was about to scold the chicken when it pleaded "Don't dip me in that water."

Mary Ripley Is Given Posthumous College Honor

SAULT STE. MARIE — The approval for the first honorary degree at Lake Superior State College, the naming of the two new married student apartment buildings after an LSSC faculty member and a former Sault physician, and the announcement of an increase in the room and board rates for residence halls were highlights of the Michigan Tech Board of Control meeting here Friday.

The first honorary degree, an honorary Bachelor of Arts, has been awarded to the late Mary A. Ripley, who enrolled in 1946 as the first co-ed at LSSC. During the '68-69 academic year, at the age of 78, while actively pursuing her degree, Mrs. Ripley was stricken with a fatal stroke. The diploma will be presented to her family at commencement.

The late Cleo Neveu, former associate professor in the department of chemistry at LSSC and the late Dr. Frank J. Maloney were honored with the naming of a building. Both the apartment buildings now designated Cleo Neveu Hall, and Frank J. Maloney Hall, will be completed Sept. 1.

In reviewing the room and board rates, the board noted that Lake Superior State College has one of the lowest rates in the state, and that the new increase (from $855 to $950) will still be below the average for the state.

The board heard status reports on Senate Bill 286, recommending autonomy for LSSC Jan. 1, 1970, and the fund drive for the partial financing of the Walker Cislis College Center.

Deaton has no plans to retire from gate crashing, but his face may be getting too familiar. "I was invited to the 1965 presidential inauguration in Washington," he recalled. "It felt funny to go in with a ticket."

Steinmetz Series Is Published By National Journal

Currently appearing in a national weekly magazine is a series of articles by Urban G. Steinmetz, executive director of the Family Enrichment Bureau (formerly the Upper Peninsula Family Life Bureau) of Escanaba. The series, titled "I Will," discusses the present and future of marriage. Ave Maria magazine, Notre Dame, Ind., is publishing the eight articles, which will run through May 31.

In the articles, Steinmetz takes a frank but optimistic look at what mature Christian marriage is about today, its possibilities for the future, and some answers to the problems confronting young people.

Problem Answers
"How good is your marriage? Is it getting better or worse? What do young people think of marriage? How do they prepare themselves for it? What about changing standards of morality? Genetic and theological advances? Nursery systems? Trial marriages? What about marriage itself—its future, its survival?"

The author says the effective answer to these questions: maturity—in communication, in honesty and respect, in sexuality, in relation to children, in Christian living.

Diocesan Honor
For many years Steinmetz was a marriage counselor with Catholic Social Services in the Marquette Diocese. At present, he is executive director of the Family Enrichment Bureau of Escanaba, a non-profit, interdenominational family life education organization. A member of the Board of Advisors of the Family Life Bureau of the U. S. Catholic Conference, Steinmetz is the first layman to be appointed family life director of a U. S. Catholic diocese. (This year one other diocese appointed a layman.)

Steinmetz, a frequent lecturer, has contributed to numerous periodicals, written a parent-student co-ordinated textbook for marriage classes, "With Marriage in Mind," besides originating the highly successful recorded discussion series, "The Marriage Enrichment Program."

Coed Fights College Strike

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Sandra Mayo is a 24-year-old college freshman who fears she won't be a sophomore in a few weeks unless a threatened strike by black students at Highland Park College is thwarted.

The mother of two has taken the first faltering steps in an effort to stop a shutdown of the school and salvage credits earned during this session.

"They are not going to solve their problems through strikes, revolutions and violence," said Mrs. Mayo in reference to a group of black students who last week presented a list of demands to school administrators and hinted that the school would be closed unless the demands are met by the middle of this week.

Mrs. Mayo, who hopes to be an elementary school teacher after completing her education, is collecting signatures on petitions which she is attempting to distribute throughout Detroit and Highland Park.

In part, the petition says: "A strike will cause us all great harm, because if it occurs we lose time, credit and money. The greatest harm may be in the fact that we could lose our privilege to attend Highland Park College.

"Yes we want justice. But it must be and can be achieved without throwing away everything that has been gained for the black people and the nation as a whole."

The petition further asks that if the college administrators do not meet demands of the dissident black students then provisions be made to continue classes in churches and other facilities.

The demands for a greater voice in administration of the college were made by the Association of Black Students (ABS). They range from consultation on hiring of faculty members to the firing of Dr. Paul Jones, dean of the college.

While ABS did not openly threaten to close the school Mrs. Mayo said it is no secret that the group hopes to shut the school if its demands are not met by the deadline, 2 p.m. Thursday.

She says the ABS is a little misguided.

"I sympathize with these young people," she said. "They are so hung up on the idea they're being jilted or cheated that they've lost the true value of their even being here... they're not sure themselves what they want."

In its demand for the ouster of Dr. Jones, the group calls him a "racist, hostile oppressor."

But Jones replies that Highland Park accommodates black students perhaps better than

Chutes Fail For Skydiver

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—A University of Colorado coed, from Michigan, on her first skydiving jump, was killed Sunday when both her parachutes failed to open.

Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Nancy Wallner, 19, of Ann Arbor. Officials said she was an arts and science major at the university.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said Miss Wallner had two parachutes and was unable to open either one. A pilot, trainer and another student jumper were in the plane, officials said.

The accident happened over Gun Barrel Hill.

Arrest Babysitter After Stabbing

DETROIT (AP) — Police arrested a 24-year-old babysitter Sunday after Timothy Burkes, 6, was stabbed to death in his Detroit home.

Officers said they held Melnee McPherson of Detroit for questioning.

The boy, son of Carol Burkes, 25, was stabbed several times. Police said Miss McPherson had been caring for Timothy and his brother, Damonte, 9, Saturday night. Damonte was unharmed.

In its demand for the ouster of Dr. Jones, the group calls him a "racist, hostile oppressor."

But Jones replies that Highland Park accommodates black students perhaps better than

World Registers 200 Million Cars

ODET (AP) — Motor vehicle registrations throughout the world have reached the 200 million level for the first time with more than half of the registrations in the Western Hemisphere.

The figures were included in the 33rd annual Review and Reference Edition published by Automotive News.

The United States and Canada accounted for more than 100 million registrations with South America and other hemisphere nations adding 8.5 million. Europe was second in total registrations with 69.1 million.

Some 89 per cent of the cars sold in the U.S. last year were equipped with automatic transmissions while 80 per cent were sold with power steering and 45 per cent with air conditioning.

The almanac stated there were 75.4 million cars in operation in the United States last year with six makes topping the four million mark: Chevrolet with 20.6 million; Ford, 15.5 million; Pontiac, 5.9 million; Plymouth, 4.7 million; Oldsmobile, 4.7 million and Buick, 4.6 million.

California led the list of states in car registrations last year with 897,211 of the 9.4 million sold. New York was next with 856,537 while Michigan was third with 596,485.

California also led in new truck registrations with 164,957 of the 1.8 million sold. Texas was second with 144,260 and Michigan third with 80,324.

First taxicabs in the United States made their appearance one night in 1907.
